Sezincote and Bourton House Garden visit

Sezincote is a fascinating 200 year old house, designed like an Indian Mogul palace with an adjoining orangerie. The beautiful gardens include a water garden where you can see a number of rare plants. Humphrey Repton was involved in the original planning of the gardens.

Bourton House Garden enjoys wide herbaceous borders, terraces, a Shade House, a White Garden, a topiary walk and water features. There is also a field with specimen trees planted in the 1990s.

Travel will be by coach. The cost, including travel and entry fees, will be £35.

There will be a deduction for anyone not wishing to see inside the house at Sezincote.

Members of the Historic Houses organization can use their membership card for entry to Sezincote. The cost for them will be reduced to £22.50.
